U.S. SEEKING AID OF BRITAIN TO PREVENT WAR IN CURRENCIES

Roosevelt Decides to Purchase Gold in Foreign Markets and Administration Approaches British Representative to Obtain Understanding—Paris Demands French Gold Embargo

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP).—Anxious to avoid an unrestrained monetary war, the United States administration tonight sought an understanding with Great Britain on the application of President Roosevelt's plan to steady exchanges and increase prices by buying foreign gold.

For the London Government, Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, Treasury expert on international finances, interrupted his conferences on the war debts to talk with American fiscal officials on the economic possibilities behind the presidential plan.

Meanwhile, exponents of various schools of economic thought shook their heads and predicted disappointing results. Slumping markets by Wednesday at the latest, Federal Reserve officials were busy working out details of the plan and promised an announcement through the White House as soon as they were completed.

Sir Frederick discussed the situation with Governor Black of the Federal Reserve board, and Acting Secretary Acheson, of the Treasury. Both attended the White House conference of yesterday, at which the plan to broaden gold buying was decided upon. They will be prominent in carrying the programme out.

Officials are silent. While none of the three would disclose what was taking place, most observers regarded it as self-evident that British fiscal authorities would not sit idly by and watch the dollar be further depreciated, with consequent loss to British manufacturers and exporters.

If an agreement could be reached, whereby the two nations would work in co-operation, many economists held, advantages probably would accrue, although France might be a potential sufferer, possibly to such an extent as to relax its already continued on Page 5, Column 5

OMENS BRIGHT FOR NUPTIALITY

Eight Hundred Brides in Italy Receive II Duce's Largesse

ROME, Oct. 30 (AP).—For obeying Premier Mussolini's wishes and marrying, 800 Roman couples, wed simultaneously today, received the equivalent of $40 bank notes and insurance policies from II Duce.

With 2,620 provincial pairs, all members of the working class, the Romans were married this morning in observation of the new Fascist "consecration of nuptiality," instituted by the Premier to encourage a bigger population.

SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE. For them the precepts of "happy is the bride the sun shines on" and "wealthy is the bride the rain falls on" had, especially, a special meaning.

It rained at the outset, and they got bank notes from II Duce and bright later, and they received the blessings of the Pope, of an archbishop, and large, happy crowds.

After private ceremonies in their own parishes, the Roman couples gathered in the St. Mary of the Angels' Church to attend a special mass and be blessed by the Archbishop of Fialia.

THE POPE'S GIFTS. This evening they were received by Pope Pius XI, who gave a rosy. The streets were lined with excited, happy crowds, who called out their best wishes to the newlyweds.

Some of the bridegrooms carried suitcases, ready for a quick departure after the reception.

Not content with laying regularly, Dauntless Derrén has laid consistently larger-than-average eggs recently. Today's egg scaled twenty-seven ounces to the dozen.

Tropical Storm Kills Three and Causes Damage of $3,000,000—Banana Crop Almost Totally Destroyed—Railways Disrupted by Wash-outs—Floods Prevent Road Traffic

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 30 (AP).—Three deaths and property damage estimated at $3,000,000 were caused today by a tropical storm which passed over the western part of Jamaica. Two million banana trees were destroyed. Several roads were damaged and a number of houses were wrecked. Three persons were drowned in an attempt to cross swollen rivers.

THINKS WAR IS IMPOSSIBILITY

Michio Ito Declares Japan and United States Will Never Have Conflict

"The United States and Japan will never go to war—Japan would never be foolish enough to fight America, and the States cannot afford to have an armed conflict with Japan," declared Michio Ito, world-famous Japanese dancer, when interviewed by The Colonist at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

The popular dancer, who is also an accomplished actor and singer, has spent many years in the United States and in European countries, and displayed a very intimate knowledge of world conditions.

"RUSSIA IS DANGER." In dispelling a possibility of war between the great nations, Mr. Ito said: "Japan was forced to take the action she did in Manchuria in order to protect herself."

Claim Memorandum On Russian Timber Shelved in London

English Paper Says Matter Held Up Indefinitely Waiting Word From Moscow—Exhaustion of Patience May Lead to Ultimatum

LONDON, Oct. 31 (CP).—The Morning Post, Conservative, said today Canada's memorandum urging restrictions on importation of Russian timber into the United Kingdom apparently had been shelved indefinitely by the Government.

The newspaper added it understood the board of trade passed the memorandum on to the import duties advisory committee, which sought opinions from some British interests concerned with the sale of Russian timber in Britain. These interests, it said, replied they believed Moscow's opinion must be sought, with the result the memorandum was sent to that capital for consideration by the Soviet Government with no time limit placed on a reply.

This, the paper said, meant there was nothing to prevent the document being held up for months. Even when a reply is received, it is likely to raise so many questions, protracted negotiations will be necessary.

The Post concluded, however, the patience of the British Government representatives negotiating a new Anglo-Russian trade agreement will end, and something in the nature of an ultimatum will be placed soon before the Soviet representatives.

ARAB RIOTS SUPPRESSED

Tense Situation Prevails Throughout Holy Land—Shops Remain Closed

JERUSALEM, Oct. 30 (AP).—A tense situation arising from anti-Jewish rioting, in which at least thirty have been killed and 200 wounded, prevailed throughout the Holy Land tonight, but no new disorders were reported.

Even in the main towns, Jerusalem, Jaffa and Haifa, there were no recurrences today of Arab demonstrations against an increase in Jewish immigration. Shops, however, remained closed because of a general strike.

CENSORSHIP ESTABLISHED. A strict press censorship was established in Jerusalem in an effort to curtail incitements.

A deputation of veiled Moslem women petitioned the British High Commissioner, Sir Arthur Grenfell Vauchope, for the release of imprisoned Arab notables, taken into custody last week as members of the Arab executive, and responsible for the widespread outbreaks.

LINEAR AWAITING ORDERS. LAMARCA, Cyprus, Oct. 30 (AP).—Because of Arab disturbances in Palestine, the liner Martha Washington, carrying mail and 800 passengers, anchored here today and awaited orders.

RIOTERS MAKE RAIDS IN CARS

Thousands of Dollars Worth of Damage Done by Detroit Mob

DETROIT, Oct. 30 (AP).—Rioters who sped in a motorized mob through Detroit's manufacturing section today smashed hundreds of windows, hurled missiles at police, burned blue-prints in the streets, and overturned automobiles in the first serious outbreak of a month-old riot and die-makers strike.

Five men were injured slightly, and six were arrested as police massed today to meet the rioters. One of the injured is a police lieutenant, who was struck by a brick.

PLANTS DAMAGED. Tonight guards were posted about a score of tool and die plants, some closed and barricaded, as employers counted thousands of dollars in damage from the outbreak.

The rioters, said by police to have numbered 2,000 men in more than 300 automobiles at the outset of the disorder, struck swiftly at seven factories scattered throughout the manufacturing section, always ahead of the city's massed police, mobilized but unable to forecast the movements of the demonstrators.

Shouting and looting, the men swept up to the factories, seized bricks and timbers, hurled them through windows, overturned automobiles in company parking lots, burned blue-prints taken in raids on factory offices, and terrorized employees.

POISING AS STRIKERS. Leaders of the tool and die-makers' strike, in progress a month, disclaimed any connection with the demonstration; employers believe "hoodlums posing as strikers" made up the mob.

Police overtook them at the Murray plant, and, after six men had been arrested, the rioters retreated across the city limits into suburban Hamtramck, where they looted at Detroit police unable to arrest them.

GENERAL ARRESTED. NANKING, Oct. 31 (AP).—General Chin Shu Jen, former chairman of the Sinkiang Provincial Government, was arrested by executive order today, for concluding secret agreements with Soviet Russia, antagonizing Mohammedans and exploiting the natives.

TARIFF BOARD RULING REMOVES OBSTACLE TO BRITISH IMPORTS

Canadian Customs Department Not Entitled to Fix Arbitrary Prices for Valuation for Duty Purposes on Empire Goods—Will Affect Large Range of Merchandise

OTTAWA, Oct. 30 (CP).—Arbitrary valuations set by the National Revenue Department against British Empire goods since November 25, 1932, under Section 43 of the Customs Act, were ruled invalid today by the tariff board. The valuations apply to a wide range of commodities, including wire rope, ferro manganese, stockinette, Jersey cloth, jute twine and metal name plates.

The board's ruling was made in allowing an appeal entered by L. A. Wilnot, of Montreal, acting for Thomas Bonar & Company, Ltd., Montreal, and dealing specifically with jute twine. Section 43 of the Customs Act was enacted in 1932, and gave the Minister of National Revenue power to set arbitrary valuations for imported goods, irrespective of the country of origin, the importation of which was believed to be prejudicial or injurious to Canadian manufacturers or producers.

Two Children Are Ill From Poison Drink

MONTREAL, Oct. 30 (CP).—Handicapped in her fight for life by an affected lung, seven-year-old Mary Zazachuk was still unconscious tonight, almost twenty-four hours after drinking what was believed to be poisonous liquor, while her nine-year-old brother, Miller Zazachuk, was recovering from the ill-effects of the drink.

According to police, the children became ill after they accepted a drink from a man employed as a night watchman in a junk yard near the Zazachuk home, when they delivered his lunch pail to him last night.

RAIN OF BULLETS PREVENTS ESCAPE

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 30 (AP).—Machine gun and rifle fire halted an attempted prison break by a lone convict at the Federal penitentiary on McNeil Island this afternoon.

The convict, J. L. (Red) Wilson, thirty, is the first prisoner to attempt a daylight break for liberty since Roy Gardner, noted notorious mail robber, escaped under a hail of lead during the night swim to the mainland several years ago. Two other prisoners who made the attempt with Gardner were moved down and killed.

With bullets kicking up the dust around him, Wilson dove into some bushes, where guards who rushed from the penitentiary found him, cowering and trembling. He was returned to the hospital it was reported.

France May Utilize Colonial Resources In Economic Revival

Premier Sarraut to Make Announcement of National Works Programme and Fiscal Reform Measures—Vast Imperial Scheme Planned

PARIS, Oct. 30 (AP).—A vast scheme for a French economic revival through the utilization of resources of the colonial empire is planned by Premier Albert Sarraut. He will announce the idea in a ministerial declaration on Friday, when he also will outline a new national works programme and fiscal reform measures.

The new Sarraut Cabinet, meeting for the first time today, was unanimously of the belief the Government's financial position must be restored and apportioned the budget minister, Abel Gardey, to present a plan before the ministers on Thursday.

TO ERASE DEFICIT. Under the new scheme, officials will look to the empire, the second largest in the world, for increased business to erase a huge trade deficit of the homeland.

Colonial trade has increased its intercourse with foreign countries. Thirty per cent of French exports were bought by the colonies in 1932, while the mother country made 19 per cent of all her purchases in the possessions.

PROJECTS FOR AFRICA. Putting Africa to work has been a slogan of the French colonial policy for months, and many projects have been set afoot to realize his objective.

One is to seek colonial production of fruits and vegetables by paying producers a premium for like products bought by France in foreign countries.

OUTLINES PLAN FOR AIRDROMES

Scheme Provides for Huge Floating Docks Strung Across Atlantic

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP).—From North America to the capital of Europe in fast planes flying on regular schedule and touching at giant floating islands of air in the Atlantic—that was the plan outlined today to the public works technical board of review.

The floating airports would be operated by the Seaplane Ocean Dock Corporation, of Wilmington, Del., which seeks a $30,000,000 loan from the United States public works administration for construction of five such islands.

STUNG ACROSS OCEAN. They would be strung across the Atlantic at intervals of approximately 450 miles. The islands would serve as one, with four located on the American side of the Azores and one on the other.

Each seadrome would be equipped with hotel accommodations for 200 persons, together with a restaurant, barber shop, beauty parlor, swimming pool, gymnasium, fishing accommodations and regular stock quotations.

Advocates of the project, led by E. R. Armstrong, inventor of the seadromes, claim that their use regular twenty-four-hour flights could be made between America and points in Europe.

POLICE BELIEVE GIRL MURDERED

Liquor Ring Blamed for Death in Quebec—Finding of Body Ends Wide Search

PENINSULA, Que., Oct. 30 (CP).—Maud Asch, fifteen, was probably drowned in Gaspé Bay after her skull had been fractured by a blunt instrument, Dr. Rosario Fontaine, Quebec medico-legal expert, reported today after performing an autopsy on the body of the girl.

Mangled and only partly clothed, the body was taken from the freezing waters of Gaspé Bay on Saturday. The discovery ended a country-wide search for Maud, but her cousin, Marguerite Asch, sixteen, who also disappeared from her home here on August 30 is still missing.

Police believe the young women were the victims of run-runners' vengeance. The Asch family is prominently connected with the activities of the Quebec liquor police and Dominion Customs preventive service.

TARIFF BOARD RULING REMOVES OBSTACLE TO BRITISH IMPORTS

FAR-REACHING RULING

The ruling was the most far-reaching yet made by the board, being its first dealing with constitutional powers of the department. It was believed it might lead to lawsuits against the Dominion for import and dumping duties collected under Section 43, since it was amended in 1932.

"The board," says Chairman George Sedgewick, delivering judgment, "is of the opinion the appeal must succeed, because Chapter 7 of the statutes passed in the Fall session of 1932, which repealed Section 43 of the Customs Act, enacted a new statute, which does not allow the fixing of valuation for duty on goods entitled to entry under the British preferential rates. The valuations in respect to jute twines in existence at the time the old section was repealed and the new section passed, ceased to be valid and effective in respect to the importations of twine."

"We will have to consider whether or not there ought to be an amendment entry (in relation to jute twine) on the basis of a home market valuation."

APPEAL NOT CONTESTED

The appeal was not contested by the department, although the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, through R. N. McCormick, entered a protest. He raised the question whether the tariff board had power to pass on the constitutionality of duty valuations, but was overruled by the chairman. Mr. McCormick submitted the board had no power to say the minister had exceeded his constitutional power, and that the appeal should be made to a civil court, not the tariff board.

from Russia. With Russia in control of a unified and Sovietized China, Japan would be literally wiped off the map; without Japan, Communistic Russia would find no barriers in her way for the conquest of the United States.

"Naturally Japan comes in for a certain amount of criticism for her actions in Manchuria, but Hitler and his Nazis, who eliminated the threat of Communism in Germany, and Mussolini and his Fascists, who did the same for Italy, have also been the subjects of great criticism."

Communism, according to Mr. Ito, was a wonderful dream, a beautiful theory; but he maintained, it would be centuries before the people of the world were ready for it.

FOSTER ART

"I feel myself," he said, "that the real solution of our problems in the world regarding peace and war would be the fostering of art and culture on an international scale. It costs a nation $100,000 to build a battleship. If five great nations would vote this amount each to build international theatres and to encourage art in its highest form, I think it would do far more towards furthering world peace than all the discussions of disarmament, which take place continually."

"I will say this much, that I believe people generally are leaning more towards the better form of entertainment in the theatres than they have been for many years past. I believe that we are on the threshold of a new era, when the peoples of the world, having by their ingenuity supplied themselves with all the material comforts of life, are beginning to feel the absence of culture and the enjoyment of art, which tend to make life beautiful."

ONCE KNEW WANT

Mr. Ito, who has known adversity before he reached the pinnacle of his art, has been identified with the motion picture industry in Hollywood, where he was technical director of the production of "Madame Butterfly." In New York he was director of the American Opera Company.

He numbers among his many friends, past and present, the late Anatole France, Debussy, the composer, Rodan, the sculptor, and H. G. Wells, the well-known English historian.

GIVEN OVATION

Three years ago Mr. Ito returned to Japan, and he was given a wonderful reception by his people. He conducted a dance school for 400 pupils in the University of Southern California.

In the Hollywood Bowl he presented the "Princess of the Orient," with 175 dancers and 100 musicians; and in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, with 200 dancers, 100 musicians and 200 singers, he presented the "New World Symphony." He has also used the Greek Theatre in Hollywood for his performances.

On January 15 next, Mr. Ito plans to sail for Japan with his company, and will later visit China, India, and then on to France, his engagement calling for his arrival in Paris, May 23. He will then go to Berlin and London, and will be back in New York by the end of next year.

When a case opened in a London court recently, the counsel called the plaintiff to the stand, as Sir Ernest Wild tells the story. A small man sitting in the jury box stepped down and took his place on the witness stand.

Asked what he was doing, he replied that he was the plaintiff.

Banker Is Enthusiastic Fisherman

"MUSKIES" weighing from sixteen to twenty-four pounds were hauled in by Sir Joseph Flavell, chairman of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, on his fishing trip to Kennelly Lodge at Hudson, Ontario. Sir Joseph, who is an enthusiastic fisherman, also has some wonderful lake trout fishing. Above he is shown with his catch.

DANCERS HAVE BIG OVATION

Michio Ito and Accompanying Artists Received With Enthusiastic Applause

With many motives—curiosity, amusement, the social instinct, a quest of the beautiful, or actual knowledge and appreciation of what they were about to see—look a thousand or more persons to the Royal Victoria Theatre last night to see an entertainment unique in the annals of the local stage, namely, the performance of the internationally-famed Japanese dancer, Michio Ito, and his company of Occidental artists.

Undeniable enthusiasm was evinced by the audience throughout, and had the spectators felt reasonably certain that the principal-in-chief would respond with a speech after the manner of some of the visiting English lecturers, they would undoubtedly have been more clamorous in their applause before the final soft dropping of the curtain.

MANY FACETS

As it was Michio Ito remained to all what he seemed throughout, remote, impersonal, an inscrutable instrument of the subtlest and most delicate mechanism for the interpretation of art. One will be able to conjure forth memories of him as the fixed-footed pianist of the last "divertissement" of the evening, interpreting (was it?) the frenetic of some impassioned orchestra conductor lost in the convulsions of his baton before an orchestra that only he could hear; as the slink-footed, agile, and almost dematerialized tangoist pursuing the imagined figure of his amour through the sensuous music of the Argentine; as the still more evasive, frise-like bronze-and-gold twirling and leaping figure of the Burmese temple; or as any of these "Impressions of the Orient."

But of Michio Ito, the man, not a shadow of memory remains. He yawned nothing. How much of this is part of the preciosity of his technique one cannot say without knowing the tradition of the Oriental theatre. In its favor it can be said that many in the Western theatre are beginning to say today that the theatre has lost ground by mingling too much with the world and thus severing the mystery and illusion that is half the magnetism of the actor.

GREAT ARTIST

Of Ito the artist no praise can be too great. It is of the very essence of aestheticism, a concentrated perfection of technique such as the Occidental world rarely attains, delicate to the point of preciosity, a fluent symbolism that seems to have no limitations.

In the matter of execution there is apparently no finess in movement of which he is incapable. As one critic aptly expressed it, he has perfected the "marvelous concentration of which motion is capable, while at the same time his body and legs are capable of the widest sweeps."

ASSISTING ARTISTS

His assisting artists gave much that was delightful also. As premiere danseuse in his company, Miss Lillian Powell proved a very great favorite with her interpretation of Zameenka's "Ballet Sentimentale," a refinement of juggling with a scarf and a "soap-bubble" or balloon, and the Legenda Morisca, a witty and graceful interpretation. Walden's delicious sense of choreograph comedy appealed greatly in the negro black-bottom dance, "Juba," a great contrast to her

Value of Construction Swings Sharply Higher

TORONTO, Oct. 30 (CP).—Total value of construction contracts awarded in Canada in October was three times as great as the total for October, 1932, and in excess of any month since November, 1932, according to a compilation prepared by Maclean Building Reports, Limited.

The figures were $15,014,306 for the month, just closing compared with $8,386,900 in September, an increase of about 79 per cent. Building contracts amounted to $11,334,500, against $4,741,800 for September, while engineering work declined by $160,000.

Value of contemplated work reported for the first time in October was $38,286,300 and includes relief projects sponsored by municipalities in conjunction with the Federal and Provincial Governments. Largest total for contemplated work for any previous month in 1933 was $24,112,600 in June.

earlier classic "Salutation to Beethoven"; and Betty Jordan also rose to comedy heights in her encored "Comica," a terpsichorean parody of a dancing lesson that exhibited a mastery of rhythmic control, while her "Javan" was a beautiful performance. Warren Crossby has an ardent and expressive art, most vividly expressed in the monkish "Nuit Blanche," and a short-lived but colorful "Jester."

precipitous hold upon the gold standard.

Some economists contended it Paris abandoned gold, the world situation would be more conducive to a stabilization agreement, since all the important nations would be placed on the same footing.

EMBARGO DEMANDED

PARIS, Oct. 30 (AP).—A bold embargo on gold to bank Washington's purchases of foreign gold was demanded by the conservative press today, but officials of the Bank of France asserted they would lose no sleep over a possible danger to the huge French gold reserves.

Uncertainty over the exact meaning of President Roosevelt's latest step was manifested by Treasury and bank officials. The former said they saw no cause for alarm, but were willing to see the effects of the purchases.

Officials explained gold hoards nations already had instituted a virtual embargo, as some central banks refused to sell gold to everyone and could refuse to sell to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

STRAIN ON MONEY

French fears the franc may be forced off gold have been expressed publicly and officially in the last few weeks. Five factors of late have put a strain on French money: Official recognition French finances are in a shape requiring a loan; the United States dollar will remain sound, with a consequent return of capital to the United States; fear of an eventual war; an adverse trade balance of more than 800,000,000 francs monthly; knowledge France must borrow at least 22,000,000,000 francs.

The Bank of France had, on October 20, more than 80,000,000,000 francs in gold bars, enough to pay every bank note that can be presented, but the danger, it was explained, is that bad conditions in France may shake confidence and cause a flight of capital.

FUZZLED AT LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP).—Business interests here were puzzled today regarding the probable effects of President Roosevelt's scheme to buy gold abroad on the London gold market.

Butlers brokers were not inclined to believe the United States would buy much gold, unless Mr. Roosevelt was aiming at a large depreciation in the value of the American dollar in other capitals.

The belief was expressed the latest American move was influenced by the thought that last week's policy of fixing increasing prices for gold domestically mined failed to have the desired effect on the dollar.

FAILS TO MATERIALIZE

HAVANA, Oct. 30 (AP).—A general strike scheduled to begin at midnight failed to materialize early today, but the confederation leaders said attempts probably would be made to get it started within the next few hours. Trams and buses continued to run on schedule.

IS THE RISK WORTH WHILE

Business conditions have made the management and conservation of estates increasingly difficult. Is it wise then to entrust this work to any but the most experienced?

Results have proved—especially during recent years—that estates handled by corporate trustees have fared considerably better than those handled by individuals. This is not strange, as it is obvious that management by an over-burdened individual would be less effective than that of a body of men whose sole business is the care and management of funds and property.

The officers of this institution are always glad to discuss with clients and prospective clients plans for the conservation of their estates.

TWO THIEVES ARE SOUGHT

Series of Burglaries and Car Stealing Keep Police Busy Over the Week-End

Seven cases of breaking and entering, one case of attempted entry, and six car thefts kept city police busy over the week-end. All thefts and break-ins are credited to two youths, descriptions of whom have been obtained by the police.

An attempt was made to break open the safe in the Piggy Wigly store at 301 Menzies Street, but owing to a lack of knowledge with regard to the operation of a blow torch, the attempt was futile. Entrance to the store was gained through a side window. A tank of oxygen and a blow torch were found near the safe, by the manager, when he came to work yesterday morning.

The torch and oxygen tank were stolen from the British Welding Company, on Store Street, which also was entered during the week-end. The oxygen tank, torch, two regulators and two hoses were stolen.

OTHER THEFTS

A garage at 1145 View Street was entered, and a fishing rod and reel stolen, while the servants' quarters at 1322 Rockland Avenue were entered, and some coats and jewelry taken.

The Pantorium Cleaners, corner Fort and Quadra Streets, was broken into, and vandalism committed, while an attempt was made to enter the Jubilee Flower Shop on Fort Street, near the Jubilee Hospital. The intruders were frightened away before they gained access.

The B.C. Dye Works, 1012 Yates Street, and the Union Fur Company, Industrial Reserve, also were broken into, and cloth and tools stolen. The windows were lilted open in both establishments.

Six automobiles stolen, and police have recovered all but one. Two were found in a damaged condition.

BODY OF MISSING MAN DISCOVERED

Inquest Into Death of George W. Daykin Will Be Held at 10 A.M. on Wednesday

An inquest into the death of George W. Daykin, 2938 Bridge Street, whose body was found floating in the Inner Harbor yesterday morning, will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Carter's Funeral Home.

Mr. Daykin was reported missing several days ago, and the harbor was "dragged" when his coat was found in a rowboat and his cap floating nearby.

An employee of the Pioneer Sand & Gravel Company noticed the body floating near the V.M.D. Wharf at 9 o'clock in the morning. Constables B. Holmes and James Strong attended and removed the body to the undertaking parlor.

It is thought that Mr. Daykin may have fallen into the water while getting into his rowboat, as the boat was still tied to the wharf when his disappearance was reported.

Funeral service for Mr. Daykin will be held on Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock from Carter's Funeral Home, Rev. F. Conley will officiate. Interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Hospitals To Debate Revenues

The effect of the recent court ruling that the meal tax is ultra vires in cutting off one source of revenue from hospitals of the province is expected to furnish the British Columbia Hospitals' Association with one of the subjects that will be discussed at its convention, to be held here, at the Empress Hotel, on November 8, 9 and 10.

The Provincial Government grant was reduced some time ago from seventy to forty-five cents per patient per day when the Hospitals' Aid Act was instituted to provide funds for hospitals through the meal tax. Now this tax is inoperative, local institutions have not benefited from the tax.

About 100 delegates from all parts of the province are expected here for the convention, some registrations already having been received.

CRITICISM ANSWERED

Norman W. Whittaker, Liberal, Resident of Saanich for 25 Years

At a well-attended meeting last night in the Women's Institute Hall, West Saanich Road, Norman W. Whittaker, Liberal candidate in the Saanich riding, declared he had been a resident of Saanich for twenty-five years; was educated in Saanich schools; owned property in the municipality at present; that his parents were still residing there and that he himself proposed to move back to the district in which he was raised.

He made this declaration in answer to a question by William Crouch, Independent candidate, who had criticized him for not being a resident of the riding in which he sought election.

Mr. Whittaker was reminded to point out that he had been a resident of Saanich for many more years than the time that he knew its problems just as intimately and felt that if this was the only qualification for a candidate in the Provincial House, then he could well qualify.

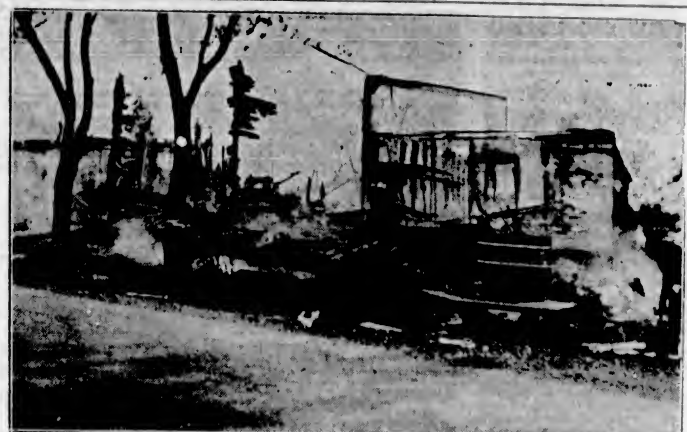

HUMANITARIAN PLATFORM

However, he had been chosen to carry the Liberal banner in Saanich, and in that capacity he stood pledged to carry out a broad, humanitarian platform for the betterment of the working classes, and the lightening of the tax burden upon the masses.

He outlined the many policies enunciated by the Liberal convention of a year ago, and said, if elected, he would accept that platform as a mandate from the people to see that the policies contained therein were carried out.

With regard to the assurance that any would be carried out, the candidate reminded the audience that from 1916 to 1928 the Liberal Government had instituted more social legislation for the benefit of the masses than any other unit in the British Empire. With a record such as that, promises were not necessary, he declared. State health insurance, unemployment insurance, an economic council to bring into recommendations for the absorption of the unemployed into private business, and many other policies, would be carried out, he said, if Liberals were elected, because the

Bucket Brigade Saves Village

When a Modern Fire Engine Sent From Cornwall, Ontario, Failed to Function, the Old-Fashioned Bucket Brigade Was Called Into Action at Moulinette, Eleven Miles From Cornwall. At One Time It Seemed That the Village Would Be Destroyed, But the Loss Was Held to About $5,000.

WANTON PATRONAGE

W. P. Marchant reviewed the administration of the Police Government and declared he had never seen such wanton patronage. He declared that the Government was so anxious to hand out patronage that it paid $25,000 to a board of three liquor commissioners could be set up at a cost to the Province of $50,000 a year. Wholesale purchase of unnecessary machinery had been carried out, he declared, and the head of the firm that handled the contracts, he asserted, was a close relative of a former cabinet minister.

John Hart dealt with finances and declared that the only way the Government had been able to cut expenditures in the last twelve months was at the expense of the municipalities. Grants were taken away from municipalities and new burdens added, such as mothers' pensions. Five municipalities had been taken over by their directors, he declared. He said he had been out with the result that the Jubilee Hospital was running at a loss, while the Vancouver General Hospital was $100,000 short.

H. KROEGER MUST ANSWER CHARGE

With Others Alleged to Have Interfered With Police—Case Goes Over Until Friday

Hans Kroeger, charged with obstructing a police officer while the latter was discharging his duty in assisting the sheriff in connection with the eviction proceedings on Caledonia Avenue, was added to the list of those alleged to have interfered with the police on Friday last. When his case was called in a crowded court room yesterday, he had objections to raise with respect to him, which had been issued to him.

One objection was that it gave his address as Victoria, while he said he did not live in Victoria. Police Magistrate Jay informed him that this need not bother him as the offence was committed in the city.

SECOND OBJECTION

The second objection was that there was no date appearing in the space at the foot of the blue paper which was set apart for the date of execution.

While the spectators smiled, Magistrate Jay said he would "just fill that in now."

The hearing of the charge to which the accused pleaded not guilty was set for next Friday, which was the course followed in connection with all the other four. In defence of Fred McGee, Stuart Henderson appeared as counsel. The other charged James Beynon, William Bragg and Eric Linden were all likewise remanded until Friday.

Old Currency Notes Picked Up in Change

Two old Canadian currency notes obtained yesterday by J. Dolphin, 405 Cedar Hill Road, through the usual source of circulation of money.

One was a two-dollar bill issued July 2, 1897, and the picture of the Prince of Wales, later King Edward, on one side. On the same side is a scene depicting fishermen at work. On the other is a harvest scene.

The one-dollar bill was issued in 1899 and bears the picture of the Earl of Aberdeen, K.T., G.C.M.G., and Lady Aberdeen, Canada's Governor-General and his wife at the time it was issued.

YU'ANHEE SEE LAUGHS

by Sax Rohmer

CHAPTER XIV

Dawson Haig sat in the room of Jack Rattray, the chief officer, or rather, he sat at intervals, pacing up and down like a wild animal.

"It's a most unlovely business," said Rattray, in his slow fashion. "I've been looking on, and I've seen things. First thing: you're spotted."

"I know—and I can't read Oester's messages. They're in a perfectly undecipherable code."

"Second thing," Rattray went on: "Two members of this silly gang are watching Eileen, meaning Dr. O. and Mr. Chow. What for? She's not in their way, is she?"

Dawson turned, just inside the cabin door, and stared at the speaker. "You're right, Jack," he said. "I've seen them myself. I don't like it, and I don't understand it."

"But what's it all about?" Rattray asked helplessly. "What are all these birds doing on board? They're a pretty unlovely crew, in my opinion, anyway. Oester's plausible enough, but there's a nasty brute hidden under that amiable smile. As for the 'snake charmer,' they're all down here on D deck."

There are the two Chiniks on D deck, I mean. Len Chow—doesn't he look like a snake? And the Number One list to me. But his long pal with the strange face ought to be put overboard, if I'm any judge. Then there's the big German Hartog—he seems harmless enough and not in the same gallery at all. I don't know what to make of it."

"And I," said Dawson Haig, continuing his restless pacing, "don't know what to make of my report to the chief. I'm acting on information, Rattray, that this scheme, whatever it is, comes to a head before we reach Aden. And as I don't know what the scheme may be, I can't reasonably expect Scollard to go on granting me leave of absence and paying my expenses indefinitely. You see, I'm supposed to be in charge of the Limehouse murder case."

"I know," said Rattray, and produced his slow smile. "He never seems clear to me what the passenger list of the Wallaroo had to do with it."

He paced up and down awhile longer, then: "Do you remember, Jack," he jerked suddenly, "the loss of a big German freighter somewhere off Suakim about two years ago?"

"Well, there's no point in telling you why, if you don't remember the one. Haig replied. But do you recall the week of the American steam yacht, Miss Minnesota?"

"Clearly." We were only forty miles off at the time. An aunt of Eileen's—Lady Dakenham—was lost in her. What's the chief's idea of grilling in your brain pan?"

"There are several ideas. But I admit they're a trifle hazy. Did you get a SOS from her?"

"Not a thing."

"Then how do you know you were forty miles off the coast of Africa?"

"I wasn't it funny they didn't send out a call for help?" Dawson Haig asked.

Rattray stared at him. "No," he replied. "In my opinion they hit some heavily laden craft and sank about two years ago."

"But surely there would have been a few survivors?"

"Have you ever had a good look at a shark?" said Jack Rattray grimly.

Following a short silence, then Haig asked, "Is there much drug smuggling down that way?"

"Lots. Hashish for Egypt mostly. Also, the good old slave trade flourishes exceedingly. I'm told the poor devils are driven across the old slave routes by the time-honored methods. Right up from Central Africa, the caravans travel. But night, of course, and die in during the day. They run motor boats."

across nowadays, high-powered craft developing forty knots. I've seen 'em from the bridge once or twice. They cross on dark nights as a rule."

"But where can the markets be, Jack?"

"There's Mecca. That's still a closed city. Per, up in Africa. And I've told there's a small sort of exclusive market somewhere on the Nile in Egypt."

"I rap the door."

"Come in," Rattray called. The door opened and Eileen entered, closing it carefully behind her.

"I've caught them," she declared, her eyes sparkling with excitement. "At last."

"What?" Dawson Haig demanded. "I saw the snake charmer slip a note into the hand of Mr. Len Chow as they passed on the promenade deck three minutes ago."

There was a dance after dinner that night.

Dawson Haig, desperately worried, went up on to the boat deck, quite deserted at the moment, and leaned over the starboard rail at a point just aft the bridge, staring across the African coast. He tried to think—to think clearly.

The problem was one demanding the exercise of all his powers. And set like a jewel in this dark affair, was Eileen—a distracting figure (he could not be blind to the truth), and one upon which all too often he found his thoughts focused.

That Eileen had twice proved of invaluable service did not alter the fact that many times when he should have been concentrating upon the mystery, he found himself concentrating upon Eileen.

From a professional point of view he was faced either with something very like ruin, or, alternatively, with a triumph which must prove a stepping stone in his far-flung ambitions.

Granted this success—now doubly to be prayed for—he might dare to think about Eileen as he longed to think about her, not as the charming sister of an old friend, nor even a capable little helper, but as—Eileen.

Where did the clue lie to these mysterious activities? What should be his next move? It was maddening to watch, to know some incomprehensible plot stretching from Limehouse to Paris, Paris to Marseilles, and thence to Port Said—perhaps, perhaps was fermenting under his very eyes, coming to maturity, and yet—to do nothing!

At which point in his reflections he was seized from behind in a steady grasp and lifted lightly, as a nurse might lift an infant! He was in the grip of that creature of an Hec See called "the Hangman."

But of this fact he was ignorant.

Swung back over the shoulder of his unseen, but incredibly powerful assailant, he recognized, with a cold chill of dread, that he was about to be hurled into the sea.

Automatically his mind sprang those instructions which every police officer receives in jiu-jitsu. His fists were useless, flung high, impotent, above his head. But the cunning grip which told him that he was dealing with an expert, held him so poised that only at one moment—four which, dangerously, Haig must wait—could he counter.

That moment came—as the seemingly irresistible forward swing commenced which was to hurl him into the sea. He checked, with a cry. He was icily cool. And, following the curve of that mighty throw instead of endeavoring to check it as an ill-informed victim would have done, he swung forward, drew up his knees, and kicked backward with all his strength.

It was sheer guesswork, but one heel registered dully upon the head of the athlete who held him aloft.

That death swing was never completed. Haig dropped with a crash upon the rail, hung perilously for a moment—and left a vice-like grip upon an ankle.

He was tipped forward, forward irresistibly—until he saw the lights of portholes beneath, the lower ones reflected in the sea. He clawed at the rail. That silent horror was behind him, hanging above him.

Clutching grimly, he kicked—kicked again—got a hold with his left hand higher up, and realized that the man was craning right over, was reaching down to relax that detaining grip. In desperation, resting his head against the lower rail, he managed at last to free his ankles, to draw his legs down.

Then, with all his remaining strength, he shot both feet upward. There was an impact—a stifled cry. His jacket, held in clutching fingers, swept down over his head, but he clung on—clung on dully.

A wrench—a bulky shape streaked past him... a dull splash. The Hangman had failed!

Dishevelled, pale, Haig dragged himself back to the deck. He leaned dizzily against a post, striving to adjust his disorder. Already the plan was forming which later he carried out. No one knew that the thug was overboard. No one should ever know, but the sharks, until his absence was discovered.

When, bewilderingly, came the splash of a silken shawl—a patter of feet—a soft, terrified cry—and Eileen's sweet arms were about his neck!

"Bully—Bully, dear! Oh, my God! You're covered in blood! What is it?"

"My dear!" he said, "it's nothing. I'm safe—and no one must know."

She was staring into his face eagerly, her own raised in a sort of agony of apprehension. Haig began to tremble. His heart was thumping so hard that its pulsation seemed to stifle him. Gone was every resolution he so recently had made—useless—hopeless.

He held her so close that she thought, "He will break me in half," and exulted. He kissed her until she was breathless, helpless.

"Oh, my darling," he whispered. He had so little to offer this wonderful girl, looked happy, in his arms—so much to tell her—so much to explain. Yet somehow all he could say over and over again was:

"Oh, my darling."

(To Be Continued)

"The Bore—When I took up golf the doctors gave me only two years to live."

The Other (hopefully)—How long ago was that?

A tourist was travelling at high speed through one of our county seats. The mayor, who was walking past, gave him a warning to slow down, but it was not heeded. The indignant mayor at once sent a traffic policeman to catch him. After the chase, the policeman said:

"Why did you ignore the Mayor's signal?"

"Oh," said the tourist, "I thought that was another hitch-hiker thumbing his way."

WHY DO WOMEN WITH $25,000 COATS BUY THIS 25¢ TOOTH PASTE?

ONLY ONE ANSWER...

QUICK, BEAUTIFYING RESULTS

SURPRISING to some but not to us were the results of a survey recently made in several small midwestern cities.

Listerine Tooth Paste was revealed as the constant preference of the wealthiest people.

Certainly the 25¢ price could not possibly attract women able to buy clothes worth a fortune, or men rich enough to maintain large estates. No, indeed; these people were won to this dentifrice by its merits and held by its permanent results in keeping teeth healthy, clean, and sparkling.

They, like three million others, have discovered that Listerine Tooth Paste pretty nearly approaches the ideal.

If you haven't tried it, we urge you to do so now.

Note how swiftly and how thoroughly it cleans teeth—permeates every crevice.

IS CONDUCTING ONE-MAN FIGHT

Reeve Crouch Attacks Party System as Inefficient and Expensive

"I am waging a one-man fight. I have no organization, no campaign funds and no ward committee rooms. I have never canvassed for a vote in my life, and don't intend to. I am opposed to the party system of government, and offer myself as an Independent to end this method of administration which has placed our finances in such a deplorable condition," declared Reeve William Crouch, Independent in the Saanich riding, at his closing rally in the Mount View High School last night.

When the Liberals took office in 1916, the revee said, the provincial debt was $25,000,000. Today it is nearly $160,000,000, and was costing the Province $11,000,000 annually to maintain the sinking fund charges. "It means $16 per head per year to every person in British Columbia. You grumble about it, but you pay $15 to the municipality in taxes, but you never dream of what you have to pay for debt charges alone to the Province," he asserted.

LACK OF CO-OPERATION

The revee said he had failed to see any co-operation between the Conservative and Liberal parties when discussing important issues on the floor of the House. He admitted to having supported the Tolmie Government when it sought office in 1928. He had done so hoping for a change, but they had gone into office to immediately embark upon an orgy of expenditures. In three years the treasury was exhausted.

"I've heard a lot about the dirty deal given Dr. Tolmie. No one has had a dirty deal? No one has so glorious an opportunity as he did to give the public good administration. I think he had a splendid deal. I can't let my heart run away with my head. He has failed as an administrator," the revee declared.

N. W. Whitaker was a gentleman, the candidate said, speaking of another of his opponents, "but what experience has he had outside of his law practice?"

MUNICIPAL RELATIONS

The revee reviewed the relationships between the municipalities and the Provincial Government, and declared that the Tolmie administration had balanced its budget at the expense of the municipalities by taking away grants and adding such burdens as mothers' pensions. He dealt at some length with relief duties here, explaining how the municipalities had had to fight "for a fair deal."

Among other matters touched upon was the question of lower interest rates. In this connection he said he was the only one among the candidates to present a brief to the Banking Commission for lower rates. "If the other candidates were in regard to their policies," he said, "they did not appear before the commission?" he asked.

During the meeting there was a little heckling with regard to matters pertaining to relief. This was the only time the meeting was interrupted.

C. C. F. SPEAKER DEFENDS SOVIET

A. B. Sanders Attacks Rev. M. Billister for Criticizing Communism

Strong defence of Russian government, a bitter attack on Rev. Michael Billister, representative of the Russian Missionary Association, who spoke recently in Victoria against Communist doctrine, was the keynote of the C.C.F. speaker, A. B. Sanders, vice-chairman of the Victoria council of the C.C.F., before a meeting of Esquimalt electors, last night, in the Rex Theatre. Arthur Norman Brown, C.C.F. candidate in Esquimalt, spoke briefly before Sanders, who addressed the meeting at 8 o'clock in the Rex Theatre. Norman Brown, C.C.F. candidate in Esquimalt, spoke briefly before Sanders, who addressed the meeting at 8 o'clock in the Rex Theatre.

Although declaring neither Communist nor Russian, Sanders supported the C.C.F., Mr. Sanders asserted: "Lithovins are better than Russians." He declared that political outrages practised by parties in British Columbia would end in Russia with a firing squad for the persons responsible.

Mr. Billister, the speaker charged, is infused with the worst of the theological hate. Many intimations of the missionary's insincerity of religious faith were made by Mr. Sanders, who concluded by saying: "Better to worship no god than a false god." The speaker said Mr. Billister was spreading lies which are turned out in hundreds from Riga, Latvia, by the White Russians. Mr. Sanders claimed to be familiar with each lie and asserted he could tell the date on which each was manufactured in Riga.

FAVORS RECOGNITION

Immediate recognition of Russia as a market for Canadian exports is essential, Mr. Sanders said. He pictured early return of prosperous times as a result of such trade. Russia, he said, is a country of large market for the sale of wood pulp and asbestos may be ruined.

Mr. Brown, following a few remarks in which he refuted criticism against the C.C.F., said: "There is something to the C.C.F. account for its phenomenal growth during the last three months."

W. E. Pelce, C.C.F. candidate in Saanich, and V. R. Midgley and C. Guy Sheppard, C.C.F. candidates in Saanich, were present at the meeting.

Plans All-Night Political Debate

One candidate, at least, is not going to withdraw his name from nomination in the deferred election. He is Christopher Rowland North—or "Joe" North, as he is better known.

He intends to hold a meeting, he announced last night—and it is going to be a real gathering. "Tell the people to bring their breakfasts with them, for it's going to take a long time to discuss all the issues," he stated.

The meeting will be held on November 19, in the House Show Building. A collection will be taken up, the sunshine inn will be handed over to the Sunshine Inn.

AUTHORIZE WORK ON ESQUIMALT LIGHTS

After a series of investigations, 895 was set aside by Esquimalt council, last night, for work on street lights in the municipality.

A light on Bewdley Avenue, near Lamson Street, was ordered erected at a cost of approximately $75. While another pole light was shifted to Kinderlay Avenue and Lamson Street, costing $10. The present light on Granville Street and Old Esquimalt Road was ordered moved one pole west on Old Esquimalt Road or Park Terrace.

On reparations, France, mangled by the war, was obliged to pay by far the heaviest part of the reparations. Germany, which was not so badly affected, had not paid her share. France did not believe that Germany could not pay, but did not want to pay.

On the matter of disarmament, France was willing to do this as soon as other nations did. She is not prepared to disarm unless she is assured of protection. Until civilized nations were united against war, there would be no assurance of no war.

With respect to the League of Nations, France, said the speaker, insisted that the smaller nations must have the same rights as to national existence as the stronger ones. When the world was viewed today, the French conception of liberty and equality was not in evidence. Time alone would tell what value there was in the non-democratic systems which like that under Mussolini was not of or by the people, but for the people.

In conclusion, Comte de Suzannet said he would venture one prediction—that in the future there should remain one liberal, that man would be a Frenchman.

Reviews Public Life of France

Comte Jean de Suzannet Gives Address on Politics as Viewed by French

In a most informative address Comte Jean de Suzannet placed before members of the Cymro Club yesterday information relative to the French character showing how this affected the politics and the national policies of that people.

France was fundamentally an agricultural country, said the speaker. There were in the country 8,000,000 agriculturists, of whom more than 5,000,000 were actual land owners. The census of 1921, which could be taken as indicative of the situation in France, showed that only 28 per cent of the population was actively engaged in industry and 10 per cent were owners of small factories and workshops.

The peasant ancestry was not far removed from most of the residents of France, he pointed out. The people of the country were slow to take up the idea of mass production and it is essentially a country of bourgeois. This represented a state of mind in which the ambition existed to attain ownership of property. In France, wastefulness was a moral offence. The idea behind all this was not prompted by selfishness. It is the aim of the people to bring the children to better conditions than those which the parents occupied.

ATTAINS DISTINCTION That this was attained in many instances was proved, said Comte de Suzannet, by the fact that so many men of letters and in other walks of life who attained to prominence in the world were sons of humble parents. In this respect France had instanced a number of examples. This anonymous mass of hard working thrifty peasants, artisans and bourgeois is not only the national reserve from which the country draws many of its most influential men, it also constitutes the great body of the French electorate. It is the body of people with their qualities and faults who exercise the predominant influence in the country's politics.

France's political system is essentially democratic, founded on the declaration dating back 140 years which states "All men are born and remain free and equal in rights; these rights are liberty, property, security and resistance to oppression." For these principles are deeply ingrained in the heart and mind of the French people.

LOVERS OF LIBERTY Political liberty is treasured by the Frenchman even ahead of law and order. For this reason great political parties are not existent in France and governments change frequently. The French deputies, the direct representatives of the people, are all powerful and exert extensive power over the executives. Equality of the people has a high place in the mind of the Frenchman. From this it affects education came the opening up of the full advantages of not only elementary education free to all classes, but also of late high school education. Another manifestation of this notion of equality was shown in the fact that the French colonial residents are given equal rights with the native-born French. As a result, colored gentlemen are qualified to serve as Deputies and of late have served in the Cabinet.

PRESENT DAY PROBLEM Touching lightly on the question of war debts, Comte de Suzannet said that the economic character of the French people was unalterably opposed to any government paying out more than it can collect.

On reparations, France, mangled by the war, was obliged to pay by far the heaviest part of the reparations. Germany, which was not so badly affected, had not paid her share. France did not believe that Germany could not pay, but did not want to pay.

On the matter of disarmament, France was willing to do this as soon as other nations did. She is not prepared to disarm unless she is assured of protection. Until civilized nations were united against war, there would be no assurance of no war.

With respect to the League of Nations, France, said the speaker, insisted that the smaller nations must have the same rights as to national existence as the stronger ones. When the world was viewed today, the French conception of liberty and equality was not in evidence. Time alone would tell what value there was in the non-democratic systems which like that under Mussolini was not of or by the people, but for the people.

In conclusion, Comte de Suzannet said he would venture one prediction—that in the future there should remain one liberal, that man would be a Frenchman.

Gaiety Will Prevail on Hallowe'en

The outstanding Hallowe'en dance taking place this evening will be the cabaret at the Empress Hotel, and a long list of reservations bespeaks a large crowd. Pupils of the Florence Clough School of Dancing will contribute to the entertainment programme, and among the attractive dance numbers will be the Valse Plastique, with Miss Thekla Stratford in the leading role. There will be a spectacular slave dance, by a large number of dancers, and a special number, "The Hallowe'en Chorus," will have the theme, "I'm Not Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf" running through it.

The ballroom will offer a true Hallowe'en atmosphere for the staging of the cabaret.

The menu and decorative scheme will be in Hallowe'en colors with awesome skeletons and black cat-ho-nobbing about the orchestra, and the large crystal chandeliers draped in yellow and black.

The tables will be grouped around the walls of the hotel with the western end reserved for sitting out with deep-upholstered lounges scattered amid a setting of palms.

Dancing will continue from 9 p.m. till 1 a.m., with the hotel orchestra supplying the latest dance numbers.

Dr. Batt maintains the people are undoubtedly of Chaldean origin that decorated the early Egyptians. A photographic record of the tribe was made by the two explorers on the Batt-Baird Himalayan expedition, during the winter of 1930-31.

HALLOWEEN HINT

Candle wax and paraffin markings that the neighborhood children insist on covering our windows with at this time of the year, can easily be removed with a cloth that has been dipped in naphtha gas. It is best to keep this on hand touching any paint or rubber molding, but it is effective way to remove these markings and so much easier than using a razor blade.

The temperatures in North and Central China are similar to those in Canada, while South China is sub-tropical, similar to the British West Indies and Central America. The seasons in China are similar to those in Canada, although in Central and Southern China intense heat, with high humidity, is experienced from June to September, the winters being raw and rainy during the months of January, February and March.

Dr. Nubbs rubbed his hands professionally. "There you are, sir," he said to his patient, "my bill for improving your heart comes to twenty-five pounds."

"The patient shook his head."

"Did you speak, doctor?" he said. "If so, I didn't hear a word of what you said."

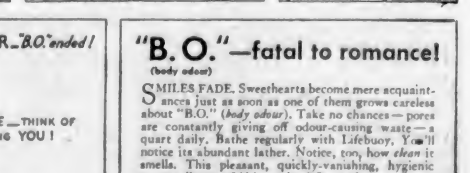

"H'm," sniffed the medical man, "perhaps I'd better make it ten pounds."

"That's better, doctor," said the patient readily enough. "That's about right."

PERSONAL ITEMS and SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Maintains Old Party System Is Out of Date

W. S. MacKenzie, Unionist Candidate in Vancouver Centre, Addresses Saanich Women Electors on Behalf of Premier Tolmie's Candidature

Maintaining that the old party system of government was out of date and inadequate when it came to grappling with the complex problems of the moment, W. S. MacKenzie, secretary of Local No. 1, Vancouver Council, All-Canada Congress of Labor, and a Unionist candidate in Vancouver Centre, yesterday afternoon at Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall made a strong case for the Premier in his own constituency.

A gross debt of $120,000,000 in thirty years of Conservative and Liberal Government was sufficient proof, thought the speaker, of the inadequacy of the party system. During this time the number of unemployed on direct relief had risen tremendously; thousands at this moment were on the verge of destitution and starvation. Mr. Patullo, leader of the Liberal party, could not find in such conditions any sound argument in favor of the party system. On the contrary everything pointed to its failure. Yet, Mr. Patullo, when approached by Dr. Tolmie (for whom the speaker expressed the profoundest admiration as humanitarian and gentleman) had refused the suggestion of union.

"My personal opinion is that Mr. Patullo would rather become leader of a Liberal Government than the means of saving the country from a desperate situation," said Mr. MacKenzie. The Labor party, on the other hand, appreciated the significance of Union Government, and when approached by Premier Tolmie had accepted the suggestion readily. Dr. Tolmie, for his courage in casting aside the party tradition at such a time, would, thought the speaker, go down in history as a man of statesmanlike foresight.

EVOLUTION VS. REVOLUTION
"Yours is the responsibility. You as the electorate must decide whether our problems are to be decided by evolution or revolution. The time has come to forget party politics, get down to business, and elect men whose principle is humanity first. Breaking doors with axes and similar acts are not going to remedy things," Mr. MacKenzie maintained. The latter part of his address was taken up with the survey of the Labor group's fifteen suggestions drawn up in convention some time ago with the idea of presenting them as the basis of a Union Government. Some of these talked closely with the fifteen planks in the Unionist platform, read by F. J. Crowhurst, one of the speakers of the afternoon.

Colonel H. T. Goodland saw in the championship of Dr. Tolmie and Unionism by a Labor representative a very strong argument in favor of the dropping of the old party system and the support of the Premier's candidature. Unionist principles were in the best interests of the greater number of people. Even so this speaker did not forecast an immediate rush of prosperity. It had taken the country a long time to reach its present plight; it would probably take some time to rectify the condition, particularly in view of the world-wide conditions. The public could not hold itself blameless in the wild extravagance of the past, nearly everyone having contributed something to the condition by demanding roads, bridges, social legislation, etc., on an elaborate scale.

Victoria bore little evidence of election; there were no brass bands or other displays showing that party funds were not in play. Party politics, therefore, could be assumed to be much less popular than heretofore, he stated.

FACES CRISIS
"When Dr. Tolmie became Premier in 1928, little did he realize that he would have to steer the Government through its most critical period. He continues to stand steadfastly in what he considers to be the best interests of the people of British Columbia," said F. J. Crowhurst, one of the speakers of the afternoon. He pointed out the present difficulties, but Dr. Tolmie had faced the issue cautiously and safely through the suggested changes of Union Government, and by drawing in such men as Hon. W. M. Dennes, Labor, and a former Liberal, Hon. William Savage, had shown his sincerity.

The last speaker was Frank Ireland, Unionist candidate, who compared the business progress of British Columbia during the past year with the previous year. Shipments of British Columbia lumber had practically doubled. August's shipments had broken all records, being even better than the banner years of 1928 and 1929. British Columbia was also capturing many of the markets hitherto unavailable for her fish; the production of gold was increasing; and the province was definitely on the upgrade—all as the result of policies instituted by Premier Tolmie.

Held by the Unionist party under the auspices of the Ladies of Ward Five Saanich Electoral District, the meeting was presided over by Miss Oldfield, Mrs. F. F. Osborne convening. Two pleasing musical interludes were provided by Mrs. H. R. Dawes, soprano, who, accompanied by Mrs. A. Kerslake sang Dore's "Garden of Your Heart" and Cowen's "The Swallows."

"Hard work never killed anybody," said the father. "That's just the trouble, Dad," returned the son. "I want to engage in something that has the spice of danger in it."

Canadian Legion Dance to Be Held At Shrine Shortly

As the date is approaching when the Armistice Ball will be held in the Shrine Auditorium on Friday evening, November 10, under the auspices of the Victoria and District Council of the Canadian Legion, the committee calls to the attention of those intending to purchase tickets, as the supply is limited, that they be bought before November 10.

A popular local orchestra which has been engaged will be presenting all the latest dance numbers, in addition to certain tunes which were well known during the Great War.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the Armistice Ball at the Shrine Auditorium is gratified at some of the letters received from people who will patronize the affair, stating that they have not forgotten what is yet owing to the ex-service men for their sacrifices during the war.

THAT WORD "FRET"
Doctors should be interested in the origin and significance of this word. It may help them to cure cloth, or fretting a piece of metal, certain patients whose troubles are not amenable to medicinal help. If you have difficulty in convincing someone who is addicted to fretting himself or herself, just point to the derivation of the word "to fret."

Literally "fret" means "to eat up," "to devour"—oneself. Derived from the old English "fretan," to eat or consume, the word in old English speech was used as a transitive verb. So they spoke of fretting cloth, or fretting a piece of metal, or "a worm frets the planks of a ship." In the Bible we find, "Fret not thyself because of evildoers." And today we just say "Don't fret."

What Today Means
"SCORPIO"
If October 31 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:10 to 9:15 p.m. and from 10 to 11 p.m.

Unless you are on your guard, fear will creep into your thought, and you will be hesitant and questioning in all that you do. Children will be full of ideas and will think up all manner of games to play. People generally will be out pretty much for themselves, and the one who stops another will be conspicuous. The child born on this October 31 will have great admiration for its parents and will more than likely pattern itself after one of them. It will be quick to sense another's feelings and to know when things are wrong. Reserved and sympathetic, it will make life worth while for its parents regardless of how badly things have been going for them.

If October 31 is the date of your birth, you do not worry as you go along through life; that things will soon pick up and be better is your general outlook on life. For this reason you are not as careful about meeting your obligations as you might be. Rather than meeting an obligation in part today, you put off repaying that on the morrow you will be able to do that much better. Money goes through your fingers like water, and while you will no doubt make plenty of it during your early life, it is possible and even probable that you will regret that you ever spent so lavishly and carelessly. As a matter of fact, you have a healthy fear of being poor, but you do nothing definite about it.

Born on October 31, you will have your share of failures, but when the books are closed, after your name will probably be written "success." You are a prudent person, you have few bad habits, and you strive hard to conform to public opinion. You are a person of many moods and you probably have many peculiarities, but none of them ever seem to interfere with you in a quiet way, and you enjoy yourself in a quiet way, and are not a person about you are hilarious and obviously gay you feel that they are not having a good time. You are strict with your children, but you rule them with love. You give them everything that you think it is wise for them to have, but you are not over-indulgent. Your home life should be very happy and all that you can do to make it so, you do.

Butcher: "I can't give you further credit, sir. Your bill is bigger now than it should be."
Customer: "I know that. Just make it out for what it should be and I'll pay it."

MARINE, RAIL and AIR

NEW SYSTEM FOR PLANES

Zone Control Will Be Enforced at London Air Station Shortly

The risk of collisions when airplanes are near a terminal airfield in mist or fog has led to the organization of a system of "zone control" which will be put into force shortly in the vicinity of the London Air Station, Croydon. Experience has shown that the physical characteristics of the country near the airport make it impracticable to allocate separate traffic lanes for incoming and outgoing aircraft; the new system, which has been accepted by the air transport companies using the airfield, empowers the traffic control officer to order all flying machines to keep out of a zone extending ten miles around Croydon till permission is given to come in and land.

Major R. H. S. Mealing, chief technical assistant in the Directorate of Civil Aviation, who made this announcement in the course of a lecture before the Royal Aeronautical Society, declared that even if success attended efforts being made to devise a means whereby one aircraft could automatically indicate its proximity to other machines, the problem of controlling traffic in bad weather would not be solved. He forecast the greatly extended use of wireless in the form of radio beacons, short range radio beacons would indicate to a pilot flying along the route his precise position till he got within range of the main airfield beacons.

CONTROL OFFICER
Major Mealing added that in his opinion, air routes would in the

BRONCHITIS BANISHED AFTER 30 YEARS TORTURE

The amazing case of Mr. Thomas Gull, Hamilton, Ont., is the talk of everyone who knows him.

His complete relief almost overnight from Bronchitis after thirty years standing is regarded as nothing short of a miracle by friends and neighbors. Read what Mr. Gull says:

"From the time I was a small boy until the age of thirty-two, I was never free from a hacking cough night and day. Doctors told me I was suffering from chronic bronchitis—that there was no permanent relief. One day I saw an advertisement for BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE. The word bronchitis arrested my attention. I purchased a bottle. It gave me relief. I bought two more, and my cough left me completely. That happened six years ago, and the cough has never returned."

BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE will give you the same instant relief from the strangling torture of Bronchitis, and it acts like a flash on coughs, colds, or flu. Why not get a bottle today? Buckley's is sold everywhere. Refuse substitutes.

THROUGHS VIEW FINEST TRAIN

Over 16,000 Calgary Residents Passed Through Royal Scot Yesterday

CALGARY, Oct. 30.—More than 16,000 persons passed through the Royal Scot, Britain's finest train, now touring eastward through Canada, as it stood in the Canadian Pacific station today.

A heavy snowfall that sifted down steadily during the morning and early afternoon, failed to deter the thousands who stood in line to view the British ambassador of the rails. Several thousand children, released from school at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, swelled the then waiting crowd to immense proportions. Owing to the heavy schedule, the train was forced to proceed eastward at 5:45 o'clock, leaving a vast throng who were unable to obtain more than a long range view of the train.

The Royal Scot halts for a few minutes tonight at Medicine Hat, and will be on exhibition later on Tuesday at Moose Jaw and Regina, before steaming on to Winnipeg.

Lake Craft Went Ashore in Heavy Wind—Pulled Off

KELOWNA, Oct. 30 (CP).—St. Seamus was aloft today after running around here Saturday in a sudden squall which sprang up as she was drawing to her berth on a southward trip. St. Seamus pulled the Sicomor and the sand last night and she was able to continue on to Penticton.

Sicomor was driven on to the beach when the violent wind, accompanied by lightning and rain, caught her amidsthips and threw her off her course.

JURY FINDS DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Evidence of Circumstances Connected With Passing of Robert Bamford Heard

A verdict of accidental death was reached by the coroner's jury which yesterday investigated the passing of Robert Bamford, who died as a result of the injuries received when he was struck at the corner of Port and Cook Streets a week ago by an automobile driven by W. W. McDonald. The victim of the accident was riding a bicycle at the time.

The evidence of W. W. McDonald, driver of the car, which was corroborated by Thomas Cowden, who was in the car with him at the time, was to the effect that Mr. Bamford was not seen by him until he suddenly loomed up close to his right hand headlight. Mr. McDonald said he was going about twenty-five miles an hour, and in the hope of missing the cyclist, he swerved sharply to the left, accelerating his speed.

The bicycle rider had his head down and witness saw no lights on the cycle. In attempting to avoid hitting him, he ran into the sidewalk. He saw a car standing at the stop sign at Cook Street as he approached that street, going east. The light from that stopped car was shining across the road, and with the street lights, the place was bright.

CYCLIST DID NOT STOP

C. A. Rawlinson, who was in the car that stopped at the time, testified that the rider of the bicycle did not stop when he came along Cook Street, but passed the stop sign. The man seemed to hesitate after he passed the stop sign, and then went forward with his head down.

Several other witnesses who were passing along the street at the time testified to seeing the accident. They placed the speed of Mr. McDonald along Port Street at about twenty-five miles an hour.

Dr. Douglas W. Graham, who attended the deceased, and Dr. James Balfour, who performed the post mortem upon the body, testified that the injuries received, which were very serious. The deceased had partially regained consciousness in the hospital after removal there.

Constable Harry Mercer produced a plan of the scene. He had fixed the point of impact as agreed upon by the driver of the automobile and others who saw it.

In presenting the case to the jury, Dr. Hart pointed out that before an indictment could lie against anyone in such cases, there had to be evidence of gross carelessness. In this case, if the rider of the bicycle had stopped at the stop sign, the accident would not have happened. Perhaps the driver of the auto erred in judgment in swerving to avoid the impact. He might have done better to have stopped.

A verdict of accidental death was brought in by the jury after considering the evidence heard. Constable H. A. Maclean, R.C. was present, watching the proceedings for the family of the deceased.

ASSOCIATION IS ACTIVE CONCERN

Interests of Canadian Seamen First Consideration of National Body—Protest Against Orientals

"The Canadian Association of Seamen is a national movement representing seamen in Canada," Mr. Berg, national president, states, "and we are taking leave to submit various matters which, while primarily affecting the interests of seamen, still are of public concern. These are:

(1) Employment of Orientals on ships subsidized by the Canadian Government; (2) application of the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act to deep-sea seamen on boats of Canadian registry; (3) the establishment of a fair wage board for seamen in all Maritime provinces throughout the Dominion; (4) overtime to be assured to seamen working over eight hours; (5) that certificates of competency issued to masters, mates and engineers in Canada have preference in Canada over any other certificates issued in any part or place forming part of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

"This association," Mr. Berg concludes, "has carried on for the last two and one-half years an active campaign of agitation with regard to the employment of Orientals with the object of bringing the matter fully to the attention of the public. We protest against the employment of such Orientals on Canadian ships carrying mails or subsidized from the public treasury."

West Coast Port Leads Ten Ships During Past Week

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 30.—During the week of October 21-28, 2,657,000 feet of lumber moved from this port, being carried in ten vessels which loaded at the assembly wharf. The shipments were comprised as follows: 331,000 feet, 263,000 feet, 268,000 feet, 494,000 feet, 110,000 feet, 60,000 feet, 500,000 feet, 81,000 feet, 410,000 feet and 150,000 feet.

This has been one of the busiest weeks at the assembly wharf since it was constructed, to cater to the movement of consignments of lumber and other products.

ROYAL SCOT NEGOTIATED ROCKS WITH PLENTY OF STEAM TO SPARE

CALGARY, Oct. 30 (CP).—"The Royal Scot" crossed the American and Canadian Rockies under her own power without the help of any assisting locomotive and with plenty of steam in hand," declared T. C. Byrom, liaison officer of the British train's tour, on its arrival here today.

"This is the first time a complete train from another continent has accomplished this remarkable feat, and I am mighty glad Great Britain leads the field once again by establishing this record."

Mr. Byrom depreciated statements which appeared through the United States press to the effect "the Royal Scot could not take it," saying "the Royal Scot has taken it."

Katharine Hepburn Plays Role of Stage-Struck Girl — Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. in Cast

There are thousands like her in every city! She lives in every village! And there is one of her in nearly every family!

She is the stage-struck girl, who comes into her own in "Morning Glory," co-starring Katharine Hepburn and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and now showing at the Dominion Theatre.

Hoping and planning, she dreams of the day when she will star Broadway and make the world acclaim her.

This dream is realized in "Morning Glory" when the girl, portrayed by Miss Hepburn, wages a valiant struggle against tremendous odds, and scores a sensational triumph.

It is around her colorful experiences, and at times heart-breaking fight for recognition, that the drama and romance of the story centre.

As the added attraction the management has secured "Faithless," a modern drama, featuring Robert Montgomery and Talullah Bankhead.

Little Remains of Once Prosperous Village

IN 1830 the biggest industrial centre in the Niagara Peninsula, Ontario, the "village" of St. John's, near Welland, is today nothing but a few deserted houses, the mouldering basements of a mill or two, and the estate of Louis Blake Duff. Above is shown (1) Hugh Smith, active, seventy-two years old, who remembers, as a boy, the humming activity which centred around the various mills of the place which he still inhabits. In (2) is Mr. and Mrs. Duff, whose well-kept home is shown (3).

Italy receives ancient relics

ETRUSCAN Museum Donated to State by Descendants of Founder, Count Arie

MARZABOTTO, Italy (UP)—The famous Etruscan museum which Count Arie founded with the numerous objects excavated near this village, between the years 1892 and 1899, has now been donated to the state by his descendants. The act of donation was recently stipulated at Bologna when the museum was handed over to the representatives of the Archaeological Department.

The remains of the unknown Etruscan city, supposed to be Misa, were first explored about thirty-five years ago. Marzabotto stands on the left bank of the River Reno, between Florence and Bologna. The ancient city, presumably founded towards the end of the sixth century, B.C., was destroyed by the Gauls two centuries later. Its site was used as a burial place.

The ruins are important, as they afford the best surviving evidence of how an Etruscan city was planned with well-paved streets intersected at right angles, the main ones over fifteen yards wide. Sewers, houses, shops, wells and even a two-faced fountain were unearthed.

The necropolis and the ruins of the city, which included also three temples, yielded rich archaeological harvest of the utmost interest to the study of Etruscan architecture and religion.

Bride: "Why did you tell your friends that you married me because I was such a good cook?"

Husband: "Well, I had to have some excuse."

Principal Ira Dilworth made a presentation of prizes on Tuesday to those students from the school who were successful in winning the events which they entered in the recent swimming gala held by the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club.

The boys' senior relay team composed of Beverly Honor, Robert Blair, Ivor Fuller and Kenneth Billingsley received a cup each for their victory.

Ivor Fuller showed himself to good advantage when he placed first in the boys' fifty yards event and for which he was given a handsome cup.

Kenneth Billingsley brought credit to the school by taking first place in the boys' diving event.

Principal Dilworth also informed the students with regret of the passing away of Major Barnett Harvey, former physical instructor of the school. The student body as a whole paid tribute to his memory.

On Thursday the Victoria High School played the University School in a practice rugby match, in which the University boys showed themselves to be much superior by scoring an eighteen to three victory. It is expected that there will be a return match soon in which the High school will probably field a much stronger team. The line-ups for the teams were: University, Feden, Adams, Ewender, Brand, Cremin, Gordon, Galloway, Prall, Bonor, Gee, Downey, Tegal, Smith, McPherson and Murray.

Victoria High School: S. Ross, V. Painter, G. Langdon, J. Coles, T. Maybee, H. Fatt, B. Winsby, J. Mason, B. Simpson, H. Rowland, B. Tucker, D. Chan, A. Kirkbride, M. Dennstedt, C. Coates and A. Jackson.

Nuggets—L. McGregor, L. Lowe, K. Kowalski, N. Florence, W. Smith, J. Phillipson, P. Jo, D. McAdams, C. McElfaine and W. Fricker.

Cardinals—G. Andrews, B. Wallis, R. Taylor, A. Barber, O. Ours, C. Raddon, H. Shimizu, A. Ashikawa, D. Walker and C. Stevens.

Shamrocks—B. McMurchie, D. Tuck, R. Shup, P. Munn, J. Kirk, S. Gault, C. Lam, N. Parfitt, F. Watson, Y. Ishida and J. Fields.

The girls' second and third hockey teams played a practice game on Friday. The teams were: Second—V. Brown, K. Gahan, I. Evans, J. Peck, V. Kilgus, A. C. C. Cameron, V. Hall, B. Maynard and A. Mickelson. Third—M. Timmins, A. Lyster, F. McDonald, D. McElain, F. Dawson, P. Addison, T. Leo, Warner, M. Tomman, M. Mann, B. Winslow and V. Lawson.

The regular meeting of the Fortia Society was held on Wednesday in the library. A debate was held. "Resolved, That all rules of etiquette should be abolished." The affirmative was upheld by Ellen Purvis, Noreen Creelman and Carol Boyer; the negative by Judith Peetz, Peggy Mulliner and Hope Large. Miss M. J. Clay, the judge, considered the debate a draw.

The girls' doubles tennis final was played on Monday and was won by E. Trotter and J. Wilson, who defeated G. Hebdon and E. Hinks by a score of 2-6, 6-2, 4-1.

The orchestra and choir are now practicing regularly in preparation for the concert planned for sometime in November in the school auditorium.

November 17 is the date set for the annual school swimming gala.

The mistress of the house engaged a new cook and was explaining her duties.

"The master often brings three or four friends home to dinner without warning," she said.

"I see, ma'am," put in the cook. "You'll be prepared for that, won't you?" said the mistress.

"Rather, ma'am," said the cook. "I'll keep my bag packed ready."

VINCE DUNDEE CAPTURES MIDDLEWEIGHT CROWN

Rangers to Have Strong Team for Coming Campaign

Stanley Cup Holders Being Hard Drilled by Manager Lester Patrick—Wings Switched to Improve Shooting—Osmundson With Squad

MONTREAL, Oct. 30 (CP).—Lester Patrick thinks a good hockey player should be able to play any position. The New York Rangers coach has been putting his theories to the test as the Stanley Cup champions train here for the coming National Hockey League season.

Wings have been shifted to centre, right wings have been shifted to the left wing, and players usually patrolling the left lane have been moved to the right side of the ice. Whether any permanent changes in the general alignment of the team, the grey-haired manager of the Rangers is convinced it is good practice for his men.

The Rangers look to the ice immediately they reported here for conditioning. Patrick believes the ice is the place for hockey players to get into shape for a long and gruelling campaign.

DEFEAT BRUINS

The public were given a preview of the 1933 edition of the Rangers when they beat Boston Bruins 6-1 in an exhibition game at Madison Square Garden yesterday.

Andy Altenheim was crouching behind the Rangers' goal posts, patting up his usual alert defence of the New York citadel. Earl Selbert had a new shipmate alongside him on the starting defence, with Ching Johnson on the reserve list. Jean Pule, young professional wrestler and star with Vancouver last year in the Western Canada League, made his debut with the Rangers.

Ching Johnson, dependable as ever, and Doug Brennan provide a husky reserve defence, though possibly Pule will give way to Ching as a starting defenceman, and share relief duties with Brennan. Ott Heller, utility man often seen in a defence hole, is out of the thick of things for a week or so with a broken bone in his hand, souvenir of a practice session.

SEIBERT HOLDOUT

Babe Seibert, hard-shooting left winger, has been giving holdout notice to the Rangers' management, but should he not come to terms Lorne Carr, smart little right winger from Buffalo Bruins, will probably find a permanent berth in the National League. Carr played a fine game at Quebec yesterday.

Babe was not with the team.

Patrick has been working Cecil Dillon, left-hander who played right wing last year, at centre, and Cecil has been making good. Oosie Osmundson, Art Somers and Murray Murdoch have likewise all had a try at the play-making pivot position.

The boys have been shifting around on various lines until they are dizzy, but they are getting good practice out of it, and by the time he is finished, Lester will have a complete team of utility men ready to leap into any breach and turn in a polished performance.

Butch Keeling, who fires his shots from the left, has been racing down the right boards, and has been showing good hockey in his new territory.

PEDEN AND LEJOURNEUR NOW SIXTH

Local Boy and French Partner Leading Chicago Race in Points

CHICAGO, Oct. 30 (AP).—George Dempsey, American sprint champion, and Bobby Thomas, of Kenosha, Wis., pedaled into a tie for first place, with Dave Lands, of Irvington, N.J., and Tony Schaller, of Chicago, at the end of the twenty-fourth hour of Chicago's thirtieth international six-day bike race at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Referee Frank I. Kramer was forced to warn Alfred Lejourneur, of France, and Gerard Debaets, of Belgium, to forego their rough tactics, or suffer a fine.

Debaets and Lejourneur rode together last winter, but are estranged and battling each other at every stage of the race. Lejourneur and his Victoria partner, William "Torchy" Peden, and Debaets, and his new mate, Norman Hill, are trailing the leaders by three laps.

Reboul and Manera, early pace setters, fell back during the early evening sprints.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Cone-Dwellers—Cappadocia is the vast region in the Eastern part of Asia Minor which was the cradle of civilization. In that part of Cappadocia which lies in the shadow of Mt. Argæus, an extinct volcano, the inhabitants lived and pined to live to this day in caves, cones and cliffs fashioned from material ejected by the volcano for many ages before it became extinct. These pinnacles of pumice stone, were modelled by the waters of the river Halys into very primitive human habitations. It required considerable skill and strength to enter these dwellings, a fact which is said to have contributed to the troglodyte practice of killing off the weak and feeble. Some of these pinnacles still shelter the primitive descendants of the Troglodytes of Alexander's time.

Jackie Westrope Out to Set New Riding Record

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Tex., Oct. 30 (CP).—All-time record of 300-odd race victories, established many years ago by the famous English rider, Jockey Miller, today appeared in danger of being wiped from the books.

Little seventeen-year-old Jackie Westrope, newly-crowned champion of United States footers, is aiming at the heretofore seemingly unapproachable British mark. Westrope today was well past his modern record with 260 trips to the winner's circle.

NANAIMO XI DEFEATED BY NORTH SHORE

Shoremen Score 2-1 Victory Over Up-Islanders—Waugh Banished

NANAIMO, Oct. 30.—North Shore United won from Nanaimo City, here, Sunday, by 2 goals to 1, in a Senior Soccer League fixture. The game was the first Sunday senior game here this season, the management having tried out the Saturday games and found them wanting financially. Sunday, despite a heavy downpour of rain, the stands were well filled.

While Nanaimo were by no means outclassed, they were unable to get going on the heavy ground. Trying a short-passing game, they time after time lost the ball to their opponents, who booted it hard and succeeded with long passes where dribbling was stopped by water and mud. Eighteen minutes from the start Stanton scored for the Shore, and with twenty-five minutes gone McSwain shot in the second goal for the Mainlanders, which ended the scoring for the half.

DAISY WAUGH SCORES

Twelve minutes from the restart, White, outside right, sent a long cross over to Daisy Waugh, who scored Nanaimo's lone goal from twenty yards out. Shortly after, Waugh and Hunter nearly battled, but because the Nanaimo had kept up the argument, Referee Guille sent him off the field. Nanaimo's chances to even the score were further reduced when Bud Sandland, outside left, twisted his knee and retired. Nanaimo rearranged their team, taking White off, replacing by Hills, and putting Jackson on at centre, while Krawi came over to Sandland's vacated position. During the game Nanaimo forced four corners, while North Shore earned but one.

Industrial production in France has risen regularly this year.

Canada's Football Hero Back in Wars

LIONEL Conacher, probably Canada's greatest athlete, has returned to the game at which he made his name from coast to coast. When professional football made its debut in Toronto, some 10,000 fans turned out to see Lionel in action. They were not disappointed. With an ill-trained and make-shift team behind him, he played almost a lone hand in nearly defeating a team from Rochester, well-versed in the American game. They just couldn't stop him. The return game in Rochester was a repetition, and sports writers of that city proclaimed they had never seen a football player who could boot a ball as far and wide as Lionel, who is also a star hockey defenceman. Lionel's brother Charlie, also of hockey fame, is not so well known as his brother at the Fall pasture, but he plays a great game on the half line. Above is seen Charlie (left), and Lionel the great, at right.

BALTIMORE BOXER WHIPS BROUILLARD IN CLOSE BATTLE

French-Canadian Drops Battle in Initial Defence of Middleweight Championship to Vince Dundee in Uninteresting Bout—Decision of Referee and Judges Unanimous

By BILL KING
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
BOSTON GARDEN, BOSTON, Oct. 30 (AP).—Vince Dundee, Baltimore veteran, tonight stripped Lou Brouillard of his newly-won middleweight title by side-stepping most of his savage rushes, and driving him back with a light but effective right to the head, in their fifteen-round engagement.

In giving the Dundee family its second championship, for brother Joe was a recent wearer of the welterweight crown, Vince relied almost entirely on his superior boxing skill. As he moved east and west to escape the French-Canadian youth's furious lunges, he ripped a lopping right to Lou's head.

These blows did not bother Brouillard in the slightest, but they went for points, and when the interesting contest ended he had enough to give him a slight lead in eight of the rounds. The verdict, handed down by Referee Johnny Martin and Judges Joe O'Connor and Frank Montgomery, was unanimous.

TOP-HEAVY FAVORITE

Brouillard, a native of St. Eugene, Que., now residing in Worcester, Mass., started the initial defence of his middleweight honors as a top-heavy favorite. He fought in his usual aggressive style, but was so buffed when the canny Italian refused to either take his rushes head-on or backing away that he failed to land a really effective blow as he dropped the second championship of his brief but brilliant career.

Two years ago Brouillard outslugged Jackie Thompson here for the welterweight title, but three months later, in his first championship start, he was outboxed by Jackie Fields in Chicago. The French Canadian gained the 160-pound crown by belting out Ben Jey in New York only two months ago.

NO EFFECTIVE BLOWS

Neither the new nor the old champion was able to hurt the crowd, officially set at 9,330 with a single effective punch. Dundee kept waving a relaxed arm before Brouillard's face and the latter, although he strained throughout, was only able to put on a body attack that was never long sustained.

There was not a knockdown or a threat of one. Gate receipts totaled $15,021.50.

There seemed little doubt if the Italian had met the French-Canadian strong-boy at his own slugging style of milling, the result would have been in the opposite direction. Brouillard received the champion's customary 37 1/2 per cent, and Dundee 12 1/2 per cent. Brouillard weighed 150, one pound less than his challenger.

NAVY DEFEATS MOUNT TOLMIE IN CAGE GAME

Sailors Rally to Win in City Hoop League—Lake Hill Wins

Navy, Regents and Lake Hill girls captured last night's city basketball league victory at the Centennial gymnasium. The sailors rallied in the second half to trim the Mount Tolmie Cougars in the feature game, 27 to 23, while the Regents won over the Taylors, 37 to 23, and the Lake Hill fair sex sprang a mild surprise by defeating the Cardinals, 17 to 13.

Baskets by Bell, P. Price and T. 10 lead in the first half, waltzed to 13 lead over the Navy in the final attraction. Smith, Davis and Blacklock kept the tars in the fight with their timely baskets during the opening half. The second half was a different story, the sailors overcoming their opponents' lead early in the session and then coasted through to a great decision.

REGENTS WIN

Regents proved too strong for the Taylors, and after taking a 22 to 10 lead in the first half, waltzed through to victory without any trouble, despite the fact that the Taylors rallied strong in the final canno. Wallis, with twelve points, and Noakes, with seven, gave the winners their wide margin in the first period.

After leading, 10 to 3, in the initial stanza, the Cardinals took matters too easy and dropped a tough verdict to Lake Hill. B. Crosby's four field goals, being the leading factor in the first half, but the Lake Hill girls displayed much better work in the last period to emerge victorious after a great up-and-down fight.

Tommy Macdonald refereed and the teams follow:

Regents—McAdams (2), Wallis (12), Minnie (1), Taylor (5), Noakes (15), Webster (2).

V.A.C. GRID SQUAD IS ANNOUNCED FOR FIXTURE

Formidable Team To Battle Locals Here on Saturday

Powerful Mainland Aggregation Coming for Important Tussle With Victoria in Canadian Rugby League—Locals Going Through Workouts—To Give Entertainment

Veteran Coach Norm Burley and his galloping Vancouver Athletic Club gridmen will invade the city for the first time this season, Saturday, when they stack up against Victoria's entry in the Big Four Canadian Rugby League at the Royal Athletic Park in one of the most crucial fixtures of the present campaign. The Mainland mentor announced his complete line-up yesterday and expects to bring his full force to the Capital City, which means the Vancouver squad will arrive here twenty-three strong.

The local lads went through a strenuous training last night under the watchful eyes of Manager Ken Scace and Coach Dr. John Sturdy, and both report the team to be in wonderful shape for the tussle. A new candidate for a regular berth, Jack Dempster, former Manitoba star, reported and looked good in the workout. He is expected to add strength to the Victoria defence. Several new players will be tossed at the Mainlanders, who are coming here prepared for one of the stiffest fights of the schedule.

Bill Lenn, stellar halfback of the Victoria squad, who will be seen in action Saturday against the V.A.C. team in an important Canadian Rugby League encounter at the Royal Athletic Park.

Victoria is sitting pretty in the second berth and a win will put them in the premier position, while a defeat will practically eliminate them from the championship running. In their first showing of the season in the provincial play-downs, Victoria looked bad on their pitch against New Westminster, but when they journeyed to Vancouver they took the Royal City lads with comparative ease, but lost out in points in the two-game series.

Their second trip to the Mainland proved none too good, losing out to Varsity after outplaying them in three-quarters of the way. In that game, Victoria made seventeen first downs to Varsity's five and still went down to defeat, which was a tough break to say the least. Since the Varsity argument, several new players have turned out for Victoria and will probably see action against the formidable Mainland club. Berrie Kinsman, former member of the Woodstock Juniors, the year they won the Junior Canadian laurels, and Alvin Wright, basketball and football star, this quartette is rounding into shape rapidly and should be a great help to the locals in their bid for the British Columbia crown.

NEW JUDGE IS CONGRATULATED

Hon. Harold B. Robertson
Faced Full Court Room
at Initial Sitting

On his initial appearance yesterday on the Supreme Court bench in the capital of the province, Mr. Justice Harold B. Robertson was accorded a very hearty welcome by members of the bar of this city. When His Lordship took his seat to dispose of the chambers list, he was faced by practically every member of the legal profession of Victoria who assembled to congratulate him on his elevation to the bench.

Before proceeding to business, H. A. Maclean, K.C., and Lindley Cressie, K.C., representing the Bar Association, offered their congratulations, and expressed their pleasure at the return of His Lordship to reside in the capital where, through the greater part of his active legal career, he had made his home.

Mr. Maclean, referring to the occupants of the seats of the jury which, with all other available space, was filled with presiding lawyers, said that he had a unanimous verdict from the very select jury, which was that the Victoria bar welcomed His Lordship on his first appearance in court here.

NOT FORMAL WELCOME
The welcome, he said, was not a formal one. All members of the bar here knew the qualities that had been exhibited by His Lordship as a member of the bar, and they knew that no man was better fitted to fill the position on the bench than he was.

It was with satisfaction, declared Mr. Maclean, that the members of the bar learned that he was to reside in Victoria. They had had a resident judge of the Supreme Court here before, but he referred to the practice that had been followed of having the situation left here over the week-end quite often without a judge being present, when the resident judge was on circuit. He sincerely hoped that His Lordship would exert his influence so that the bar here would not be "left high and dry" over the week-end, as had sometimes been the case.

Mr. Maclean concluded by wishing that His Lordship be spared long to fill the honored position.

MR. CRESSIE'S WELL WISHES
Mr. Cressie, in adding briefly his congratulations, said that it was a great satisfaction to residents in Victoria that one who had been so long a resident of this city had attained the honored position he now occupied.

He made reference to the long experience of His Lordship at the bar, and to the most intimate knowledge of local conditions which could not be expected to be gained by one not so intimate with them. These congratulations on the part of the bar at Victoria, Mr. Cressie felt assured, would be voiced all over the province.

In replying to the expressions of good will, Mr. Robertson expressed his great pleasure at the kind references that had been made by the bar of the province, and especially did this apply to the bar of Victoria, with the members of whom he had so long been in active touch as a practicing member, and among whom he was now coming back to live.

His Lordship made reference to his father having been a member of the bench of the Supreme Court here for a short time.

He spoke of the excellent relations that had always existed among the members of the bar here during his residence, and he hoped that there would be fulfilled to the utmost the hopes which had been expressed for satisfactory relations in the changed conditions.

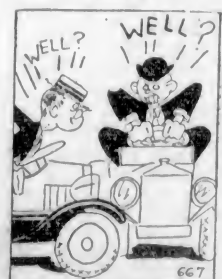

His Lordship then proceeded to the consideration of the list of applications to be disposed of in chambers.

Hen Keeps Court Busy for Morning

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—It must have been just the principle of the thing, because the hen was valued at only fifty cents, and two relatives who claimed the bird had hired lawyers and come all the way from Torbay for the proceedings. Evidence in the case occupied the attention of Judge F. J. Morris all morning in civil court and when it was completed counsel for the defendant moved for non-suit on the ground that the plaintiff had not made a formal demand for the hen. Counsel for the plaintiff withdrew, but intimated that another action would be started after formal demand had been made.
